Attention is called to the fact that many people get their lists in the treasurer's office too late to have their securities exempted. The treasurer informs us that this must be done at once. Do not wait too long, and thus fail of the exemption. Read the treasurer's advertisement in this issue, and do it now.

DAVIS THEATRE.

A Big Four Feature Today, The Blindness of Virtue-Six-Reel Production With Edna Mayo and Bryant Wash-

Another Big Four feature will be shown at the Davis the first half of this week in The Blindness of Virtue, a six-reel Essanay production, featur-ing Edna Mayo and Bryant Washburn. All advanced educators have approved of this photoplay for its moral teachings, although there were some of narrow mind who criticized it for its frank revelation of the truths of life see the show and take their daughters see the show and take their daughters with them so that both may learn the lesson together, one of the pitalls that beset her path and the other of the dangers that beset them.

And the photoplay has the merit of being even more intensely interesting for its teachings. Never for a moment was the detail of making the play thoroughly interesting to all forgotten in bringing out the moral lesson.

Edna Mayo as Effle is shown in one of the most charming of characters.

Edna Mayo as Effle is shown in one of the most charming of characters. She carries out the part with an intense interest that makes it bubble and sparkle with life. Bryant Wash-burn plays the role of her sweetheart with his customary grip on detail and his thorough understanding of charac-

An especial invitation is offered the mothers and daughters of this city to see this picture, and a wonderful lesson is illustrated to young girls of the harm through ignorance. The vaude-ville for this bill is called A Tenement Flirtation, a beautiful singing novelty, with a gorgeous stage setting. The Mutual War Weekly and a funny comedy will complete the show. Special music by the Davis concert orchestra will be played throughout the pictures. Time and prices as usual.

HIGH JINKS

Coming to the Davis Tuesday Evening, A magic perfume on which depends he plot of High Jinks, the musical follity which Arthur Hammerstein will day present at the Davis theatre Tuesday evening, Sept. 21st, is the discovery of an American nerve specialist practicing in Paris. He makes such good use of it on one of the pretty patients that her joy gets the better of her discretion and she winds her arms in raption and she winds her arms in rapture around his neck. For the magic of this perfume is such that anyone getting a whiff of it becomes instantly hilarious. The young woman's husband happens to be a witness to the caress. He is a fire-eating Frenchman and to escape his vengeance the perfumedispensing doctor flees to a bathing resort. The Frenchman follows, and all sorts of ludicrous complications arise. The principals and the large attractive chorus of pretty girls rush and dance and laugh through three acts of whirlwind farce adorned with a catchy musical score.

The marriage of Elisha Jay Edwards, Jr., of New York and Miss Ethel Whalen, a daughter of Mrs. Irene Virginia Whalen, took place at 4.20 Saturday afternoon in the Broadway Tabernacle at Broadway and Fifty-sixth street. New York. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. George M. Thompson, pastor of Christ church at Greenwich, Conn., and the Rev. Charles E. Jefferson, pastor of the Tabernacle.

The decorations were palms and pink chrysanthemums and the musical program was rendered on the organ by Walter S. Edwards, the organist and the program of the care of t

COLONIAL THEATRE. When Love is Mocked, Marvelous Three-Reel Selig Sea Drama.

This is one of the Selig company's biggest releases and tells of a dashing French matron who, because her husband would not buy her a coveted necklace, flees to the seashore, taking up her abode in the home of a fond mother with only one son. He is of a certain type that pleases the French woman, and she whiles away the time with him, but he thinks she is in earnest and loves him. All goes well until the husband decides to supply her with the necklace, which he purchases and misse Elizabeth Edwards a place of the sales of the walley. Mrs. Whalen was in orchid-colored satin, a draped gown with cream lace sleeves and waistcoat, topped by a small hat to match with shaded flowers.

The bride's only attendants were hest and loves him. All goes well until the husband decides to supply her with the necklace, which he purchases and takes to the far-distant fishing village. The husband is seen lavishing his love upon the woman and the youth naturally resents it, not knowing the true state of affairs. The woman leaves and the son dies of a broken heart. Years later the French woman returns to the scenes of her lovemaking and inquires The husband is seen lavishing his love upon the woman and the youth naturally resents it, not knowing the true state of affairs. POETRY

PEACE THAT'S IN DEAD FACES.

The peace that's in dead faces;
Ah, that is what I crave;
Not oblivion's soundless slience
Nor the darkness of the grave;
But the calm deflected radiance,
Like ah answer to past prayers—
Something infinitely precious
Dropping from his brow to theirs!

The peace that's in dead faces;
Ah, that is what I ask.
When the daylight is behind me
And my hand forgets its task.
For the earth is full of discord,
Pain and discontent and strife,
And uneasy thoughts like nerties
Fret the fibers of my life.

The peace that's in dead faces;
O Master, Lord and King!
Before thy throne eternal
I this petition bring;
In spite of all transgressions.
Shortcomings and despair.
This peace so pure and holy
Decree that I shall share.

The pence that's in dead faces;
How often I have scorned.
Death's solemn seal and marveled.
And could not understand;
Yet I never note it resting
On the pallid pulseless clay.
But it stirs a hope within me,
Dearer than all words can sar!
—Arthur Goodenoug
